

I am a resident in the Dayton, OH area and I listen to our local K-Love station. It is my understanding that the FCC is considering LPFM stations. These stations may force FM translator stations such as K-Love off. K-Love is a listener supported broadcast network that provides music that is not available in many of these areas where they broadcast. I believe K-Love offers educational, counseling, and community services not found on other radio stations in our area. Please reconsider changes that would negatively impact FM translator services. Thank you.
